Be Up and Running Today

Purchasing, configuring and managing your own in-house Microsoft Exchange Server can be a costly and time consuming undertaking. Choosing Alentus as your Exchange Hosting Partner not only provides you with an experienced team of email administrators, it minimizes capital investment, frees up your own IT resources to focus on other value-producing initiatives and mitigates messaging risks before they reach the corporate firewall. With just a simple mail exchange (MX) record configuration change, Alentus Exchange Hosted Services can be up and running for your organization quickly and inexpensively. There is no additional hardware for you to provision; no additional software to buy, install, or configure; and no expensive training required for your IT staff. Our Exchange Services run in a Tier-1 secure data center, complete with backups, anti-spam/anti-virus protection and 24 hour support.

"I would recommend Alentus without hesitation. Their response time is good and their client handling I have found is second to none. I have recommended them previously to both friends and clients and both find their service excellent. Specifically, their hosting service is almost totally automated, so response time is cut down."
